Review your knowledge

Let's review what you've just read with a few questions.

Don't worry if you get any wrong! This is just to help you review your knowledge.

Should you only ever ask “why” five times?

What is a “stakeholder”?

When you're trying to solve a problem,
should you always try to do it on your own?

Why do you need to talk to people
once the problem has been solved?

How well did you do?

If you found some of the questions a bit tough, you might want to look at the two flipbooks again. We encourage you to do this if you found the questions easy too!
